Could Your Church Be a Place of Support After Pregnancy Loss?

For many families, their church is one of the first places they turn after losing a baby. Yet even the most caring church community may be unsure of what to say, what resources to offer, or how to continue supporting a family in the weeks and months that follow. Morgan's Place wants to help churches be prepared to care for their own families.

Our goal is to equip and train members of your church with the knowledge, resources, and confidence to walk alongside families from the first moments of loss through burial, remembrance, and continued grief support.

We do not simply want to give your church resources. We want to help your church build a ministry that can confidently and compassionately serve its own families.

If your church has a cemetery, that ministry can go one step further through an Infant Memorial Section supported by Morgan's Place.

Share this vision with your pastor, church leadership, cemetery board, or ministry team. Morgan's Place is ready to help you take the next step.

A Place to Remember: Infant Memorial Sections Across Ohio

Imagine a family losing their baby and discovering that within their own church community there are people prepared to walk beside them—and a sacred place where their child can be laid to rest with dignity, at no cost to the family.

That is our vision.

Morgan's Place wants to establish Infant Memorial Sections in church cemeteries throughout Ohio, working hand in hand with miscarriage and infant loss ministries within those churches.

For Infant Memorial Sections supported by Morgan's Place, we will help cover the footer and grave marker, provide the casket and necessary burial supplies, and support the church ministry with funeral and burial coordination, flowers, keepsakes, and continued grief support—all provided as charitable services at no cost to the family.

We believe God does not want a grieving family burdened by the cost of burying their baby. Parents are already carrying enough. Finances should never determine whether their child receives a beautiful and dignified resting place.

Our vision is to see these ministries and memorial sections throughout Ohio—one church at a time, changing how families experiencing pregnancy and infant loss are cared for.

If your church has a cemetery, we would love to talk with you.

Marion Center: Growing Into a Place of Hope

Marion Center continues to move closer to completion! Right now, we are in one of those stages of construction where a few important pieces need to fall into place before everything else can move forward.

Once those remaining items are completed, things should begin changing quickly. Insulation, drywall, and painting are among the next big steps, and we are excited to see the inside of Marion Center begin to look and feel like the welcoming space we have envisioned.

When complete, the Marion Center will provide much-needed space for volunteers, ministry activities, educational resources, grief support, and the many behind-the-scenes efforts that make the work of Morgan's Place possible.

Looking Forward: The Walt Queen Healing Garden and Play Space

As we look ahead, plans are also in place for the Walt Queen Healing Garden and a play space area at the Marion Center. These outdoor spaces are being designed with our families in mind—places where they can gather, remember, and spend time together.

The Walt Queen Healing Garden will include butterfly bushes, naturalistic flowers, and thoughtfully planned landscapes that invite quiet reflection. The garden will offer beauty through every season and honor the life of Walt Queen and the love he shared for his family and the mission of Morgan's Place. Nearby, the play space will give children room to move, explore, and experience the simple joy of being outdoors. Families will be able to enjoy time together in a setting that recognizes the needs of every member of the family, including children who may be grieving in ways they cannot always express with words.

We want the Marion Center to be a place where families can hold both joy and sorrow together. Grief does not erase the need for laughter or connection. A family may encounter joy in the garden or play space and then sit quietly in their sorrow.

Stay Connected to Morgan's Place

Need a Speaker?

Do you remember the television show Have Gun—Will Travel? Richard Boone played a character named Paladin. He hired himself out for a fee to “take care of problems” for his clients, and he would go anywhere to do so. The show was a western and ran from 1957 through 1963.

Well, Morgan's Place has Speakers Who Will Travel! They will go anywhere to tell the story of our ministry, and there is no fee.

Ask yourself whether anyone has visited your church to tell you about our programs. Do you belong to a service club, garden club, community organization, or another group that regularly includes speakers as part of its meetings?

The answer to these questions is to call Greg and Priscilla Wilt at 937-726-4805 or 937-497-8118. Someone will come to your gathering, “shooting words, not bullets.”

Miscarriage Kits: Support When Families Need It Most

When a family is experiencing a miscarriage at home, they may feel overwhelmed and unsure of what to do. Morgan's Place miscarriage kits were created to provide families with practical supplies, guidance, and a way to respectfully care for their baby during an incredibly difficult time.

To date, Morgan's Place has distributed more than 1,600 miscarriage kits. Each kit represents the opportunity for a family to have resources and support available when they need them most.

Each kit includes two collection hats, a keepsake jar with a satin cover, a spray bottle, a keepsake bracelet, and gloves.

An instructional video explaining how to use the kit is available on our website under Resources, along with a list of locations where Morgan's Place miscarriage kits are currently available.

Help Us Keep Our Kits Stocked

Our miscarriage kits are provided to families at no cost, and our community plays an important role in helping us keep them available. We have created an Amazon Wish List with items needed to assemble and restock our kits.

Thank You to Queen Exhibits and DigiLinq

A special thank you to Queen Exhibits and DigiLinq for donating the black cinch sacks that discreetly hold the miscarriage kits for each of our families. These bags give families a more private and dignified way to carry and conceal their kits when they need them most.

Whether you help provide supplies, share the location of a kit, or simply make someone aware that this resource exists, you can help ensure that a family facing a miscarriage knows they are not alone and that their baby can be treated with dignity and care.

Because of You...

Morgan's Place continues to grow because individuals, businesses, churches, and organizations throughout our communities believe in this mission. We are incredibly grateful for every person who helps us serve families and honor their babies.

Sidney Moose

A special thank you to the Sidney Moose for their generous donation of $2,358. Your support helps us continue providing dignity, compassion, and care to families experiencing pregnancy and infant loss.

Mercer County Fair Wood Carvers Auction, Celina Eagles & Celina Moose

Thank you to the Mercer County Wood Carvers Auction at the Mercer County Fair, Celina Eagles, and Celina Moose for coming together for the beautiful wood-carved cardinal fundraiser. Together, this incredible effort raised $7,653.75 for Morgan's Place!

Thank You, POWER

We are grateful to POWER for supporting Morgan's Place grief support groups and helping provide a place where grieving parents can gather, remember their babies, and walk alongside others who understand.

Every gift, every volunteer hour, and every act of support helps Morgan's Place remind another family that their baby mattered and that they do not have to walk this journey alone.

Selena Campbell Testimonial

We have three boys, ages 7, 5, and 2. We always wanted a fourth child, and we prayed to have a daughter this time. The Lord was gracious enough to give us our Selena Hope. We were very excited, and so were the boys, to finally have a daughter and a baby sister.

Due to ongoing complications throughout the pregnancy, Selena was born prematurely at 24 weeks old. Despite viability and the impressive team at the hospital, Selena ultimately only had 11 hours with us before she went to be with the Lord.

After she passed away, we were given a long list of funeral homes that we needed to sift through to choose one that would handle Selena's body. It was overwhelming, to say the least, and very difficult to decide on one — they all seemed the same. How does one choose a funeral home for their child?

The next day, a social worker at the hospital gave us another option. We thank God that she did. She told us of a place called Morgan's Place and as soon as she described it, it was an immediate yes followed by peace regarding the decision. It felt like such a personal alternative. No family should ever have to go through something like this, let alone in such a detached way as we were about to had we not been offered Morgan's Place. We contacted Mollie, and it was so reassuring just to hear her voice. Someone who gets it. Someone who intimately knew the pain and shock we were going through. She came to meet us within the hour after our call. The urgency she showed us, willing to drop everything for a grieving family, is something that meant a lot to us. She provided so much guidance at a time when we felt a little lost in how to move forward logistics-wise. She gave us a clear path of how to navigate the burial process, and not only that she provided us with herself — such a gentle, warm partner to do this alongside us. It felt like she was a mentor to us. She now feels like family and is a dear friend.

Mollie encouraged us to let our boys see Selena, love on her, and say goodbye to her. We're so thankful for her wisdom in influencing us to make that decision. We took many photos and held her as a family. Mollie's demeanor during the entire process was very professional and matched just what we needed in that moment. The outfits that she brought made Selena even more beautiful than she already was. Being that we never had a daughter, we were so looking forward to all the dresses and little girl outfits. Mollie granted us the experience of dressing her in a very elegant dress, a memory we will cherish forever. Once we were finished, we said our final goodbyes, and Mollie took Selena with her. She handled her with so much care and respect.

It is so special to us that our daughter is buried amongst other beautiful angels, in such a peaceful plot of land. We can't imagine burying her any other way, in any other place. It pains us to think that there are families out there who do not have the support of services like Morgan's Place. To say they are a blessing to our community is an understatement.

Despite the sadness and the pain, in the midst of it all, God comforted us and gave us the peace and the strength that we needed. We may not always understand why these things happen to us, but we know deep down that "the Lord uses all things for the good of those who love Him and who are called according to His purpose," Romans 8:28. We know that Selena is with the Lord and that she did not experience all the pain and heartache that we all go through in life. We know that one day we will reunite with her. While we wish Mollie and her husband never had to lose their children, we are so grateful that their experience and pain motivated them to serve other grieving families like us.

Just in Case: Information for Moments of Pregnancy Uncertainty

Morgan's Place knows that pregnancy uncertainty can happen at any time, day or night. A slight cramp or unexpected spotting can be alarming to a mother who has just learned she is pregnant.

While these symptoms certainly do not always mean a miscarriage is occurring, families we have served have told us they wish they had been given reliable information ahead of time—something they could turn to just in case their pregnancy began progressing toward a loss.

So, we created our Just in Case literature.

The information is placed inside a sealed envelope and included in welcome packets at participating doctors' offices. It is meant to remain sealed and be opened only if needed. If a mother finds herself facing pregnancy uncertainty or believes she may be experiencing a miscarriage, especially outside of her doctor's regular office hours, she already has compassionate information available to help her understand what may happen next and what questions she may want to ask.

Our goal is not to create fear or assume that uncertainty will lead to loss. It is simply to make sure a family does not have to begin searching the internet for answers during an already frightening moment.

We currently have Just in Case envelopes available in a limited number of doctors' offices, but the information is available to everyone online at www.morgansplacecemetery.org under Resources.
Access code: Justincase2026

Please save and share this code with someone who may need it. Sometimes having trustworthy information within reach can make an uncertain moment feel a little less overwhelming.
